

Magical writing and magical language has been used as far back as I'm aware. From Enochian to Chaos Magick. I've found a way to temporarily remap a computers keyboard, accomplishing the same thing. There are 26 letters in the english alphabet, and there are 26 astrological glyphs already set into your computers font. At least when you include the phases of the moon. For windows just download this program,

<https://www.autohotkey.com/>

And then run this simple script I created for it. It will remap the keys on your board to this new magical language. To turn it on just press The caps lock key, and then press it again to turn it off.

```
#If, GetKeyState("CapsLock", "T")
